An investigation is under way into the claim of two girls that they saw a man in San Juan International Airport who they believe to be the accused killer of Dr. Martin Luther King, an FBI spokesman disclosed. The girls, Lucy Gomez, 19, and Carmen Maldonado, 16, informed the FBI on arrival in Hartford, Conn., Tuesday of the encounter with a man who resembled James Earl Ray, alias Eric Starvo Galt. The man shoved into the line ahead of them, they said, and asked for a ticket to Jamaica or "anywhere in South America."
